New books in the Library

"Good Call - Reflections on Faith, Family, and Fowl" by Jase Robertson of Duck Dynasty. In addition to stories of life in the Robertson family and epic tales of hunting of all kinds, readers will get an inside look at Jase's personal faith in the Creator of the outdoors he so dearly loves. You will also find hilarious stories about "facial profiling," and the personal reflections will inspire you to make your own good calls.

"5 Secrets Great Dads Know" by Paul Coughlin. Coughlin talks candidly about the best things you can give your children, not material things, but the character traits that will help them fulfill their dreams and potential. This book is only 63 pages long, something you can read from the lawn chair on a Sunday afternoon.

"Married ... But Not Engaged" by Paul and Sandy Coughlin. Their freeing message will help you understand the inner life of your emotionally detached husband as well as what you can do—and shouldn't do—to create a more satisfying relationship. They'll help you understand the forces that make men passive, how to handle issues of anger, respect, and resentment, and learn practical ways to nurture intimacy. This book informs, instructs, encourages, and inspires as it shows how you and your spouse can draw closer together
